Media Watch

Media Watch is a national organization dedicated to improving the images of women in the mass media. Media Watch was created in direct response to growing concern over the increasingly sexist and pornographic portrayals of women. The objective of Media Watch is to act as a facilitator of public concern through education, government and industry lobbying, as well as T.V., radio and advertising monitoring.

On April 1, 1983, Media Watch officially opened a national office in Vancouver. The mandate for the next two years is to work towards the implementation of the recommendations made by the CRTC Task Force on Sex-Role Stereotyping.

Media Watch has designed easy to use complaint forms for people to register their criticism. Complaints must be directed to a specific ad or program with reference to sex-role stereotyping. The forms are collected by Media Watch and forwarded to the offending body.

Media Watch forms are available in the Women's Centre - Room 2720.

Also, anyone who is interested in establishing a Media Watch group in the Women's Centre, please contact Marian Exmann at local 2722.
